

What are the most important “Things you can change” or “Things you can’t change” ?!

Have you ever asked yourself this question?! I think most of the people will choose a specific answer and that will be based on not understanding well the question or maybe because they follow their feelings or their common sense.

So if you choose “Things you can change” you are not on the same side with me.

I wrote this paper for a special lady who is so smart, calm and beautiful too. And why? Because one year ago from now at the same place and the same situation, maybe I was a different person. I’m not currently the same person any more.

I became another person with another thought because of some minutes I spent talking with her, So she maybe has a powerful ability for changing me.

So lets get back to the point “Things you can’t change” I believe that those things are the most important. Because you will live with them forever and you need to agree with them so you can all reach a peaceful point and you can all get a truce.

Human abilities have two sides, one you can change and another you will not ever be able to do it and If one day you could, you will be a totally different person, maybe you will not be the best or maybe you will be a bad person but you will have this victory which you could change a static thing which is (impossible to change).

You can’t change your brain’s abilities easily, you need to spend years and maybe you will not ever could do it. It is just like, you are person with glasses and I want you to see without the glasses would you ever be able to see!

Any one can change things like your job position, your address and even your name or religion you can change them easily, so let’s agree that Humans have the ability to change, we are in this life mainly to make a change.

But it is not the same when you try to change your personality, and what if you could find a way or a person who could do that by a word or a little thing maybe. Will you leave or lose this person or this thing?

A lion appeared in a street what most of the people will do?!

They will all run, leaving every thing behind them, but wait a minute, what if you find a person who will stand and try to fight this lion, is this person crazy ?. And what if this person even try to convince the lion that it is not a lion, but it is a lovely huge cat ?! This person is not crazy but he or she has another point of view.

I think I’m this person currently and that is because of a lot of factors and you are one of them.

You are asking yourself now how that is possible, you are confused right now and maybe you want to know what I want to get or achieve from all of that! That is OK, but you have to be patient a little more.

“Your choices are what you are !” so if you choose the answer which is on the same side with me, you will be a person who is really powerful and stable because you already have an agreement and a truce with all things you can’t change, you want to sing for example this is fine but if you already know well that you have the worst voice ever you will not blame yourself if no one will love to hear you because you know you can’t change that, maybe singing will make you happy so do it every day and every moment but don’t feel sorry for anything, maybe you can’t run fast and whenever you try this you will be so tired, so you have to be happy not bad for yourself because maybe you can do things which others can’t even think about.

So the point is that the fate and destiny are more powerful than your abilities and your choices,

I believe that anyone can learn anything in the world, but wait you can't use this thing well maybe or you will not maybe be the best, but you need to try and if you find that this thing is out of your control so you have to smile and to be so calm and to not ever blame yourself.

Hope all the best for you.
Be safe.

M.Said